

My name is Paolo Carman and I am the proud owner of Keyrow Tours, a small business in Central New York that specializes in creative excursions to Italy for intimate-sized groups. Since its inception in 2007, Keyrow Tours has seen remarkable positive growth, especially in the past three years that we have worked “hand-in-hand” with Camilo Graphics and Web Solutions. Thanks in a very large part to Camilo’s expertise, knowledge, technical support, and easy going personality we have now doubled the number of trips that we offer each year. He provides my business with Strategic Website Consulting that is economically affordable, efficient and on-going as my business continues to develop unique travel concepts and discovers new and interesting travel destinations for future clients.

Camilo Graphics has also provided my business with website content design with custom content management tools that are easy for me, the MOST non-technical person in the world, to use easily and effectively. What is more, Camilo’s graphic design skills and custom illustration work are beyond superb... they capture the very essence of what my business is all about in a meaningful and understandable way. So many of my clients comment on how professional my website, brochures, rack cards, posters and business cards look. This is due to Camilo’s unique ability to listen to my vision for my business, and then transfer that vision into a reality that is tangible on the World Wide Web and in printed format. For my clients he has incarnated my dream and passion: Hosting creative excursions to Italy for small groups, with memories to last a lifetime. Camilo has made my small business look very good, and I would recommend his services to anyone.

Sincerely,

Paolo Carman
