

I am so glad that I found Camilo Nascimento of Camilo Graphics to re-design my website and be my partner in all my website dealings! Not only is he knowledgeable in all things having to do with social media, and the designing of websites but he is an artist in his own rite, having an MFA from the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and so when he helps me add things to my website, he has such a good eye for where things should go, and helps my website to be visually pleasing. If there is something that I really dislike, it is when a website looks crowded or disorganized, and this will never happen when working with Camilo.

In addition, he took the time to begin with, to talk with me about my firm, the Insiders Network to College, and get to know me and my philosophy and the way I work before even touching my website. That is definitely reflected in the understanding he shows when he adds things to my website, and how he guides me when I ask him questions about the direction in which we are taking my website and ultimately my business and my practice. For you see, they are all bound together, and Camilo totally gets that.

We worked together for a good while before actually meeting each other, and then when we did, it was just terrific, and we had a great connection! Now he has added all kinds of social media to my website, and I am blogging, and taking my own photos of colleges and universities for my blog, and he is actually guiding me along the path to making my website better and better all the time. I highly recommend working with Camilo and would gladly chat with anyone who was thinking of working with him as a reference.

with a warm smile,
Carolyn
